

RECLAMATION

SALLY HEMINGS,
THOMAS JEFFERSON,
and a DESCENDANT'S
SEARCH for HER
FAMILY'S LASTING LEGACY

GAYLE JESSUP WHITE

AMISTAD

— 35 —

An Imprint of HarperCollinsPublishers

“Ties to Thomas Jefferson Unravel Family Mystery” (January 26, 2014) and “DNA Does Not Lie and Neither Did Aunt Peachy” (April 4, 2014) appeared in The Root. Permission granted by publisher.

All photographs courtesy of the author unless otherwise noted.

RECLAMATION. Copyright © 2021 by Gayle Jessup White. All rights reserved. Printed in the United States of America. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles and reviews. For information, address HarperCollins Publishers, 195 Broadway, New York, NY 10007.

HarperCollins books may be purchased for educational, business, or sales promotional use. For information, please email the Special Markets Department at SPsales@harpercollins.com.

FIRST EDITION

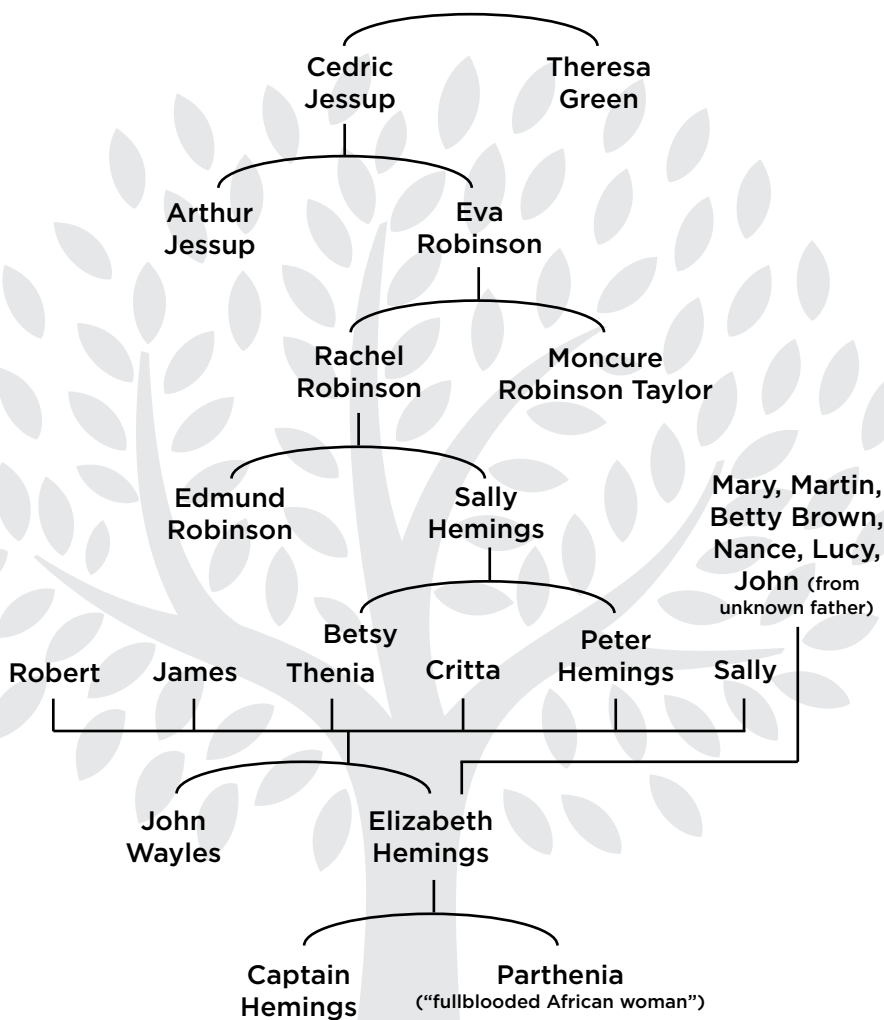

Designed by Nancy Singer

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data has been applied for.

ISBN 978-0-06-302865-4

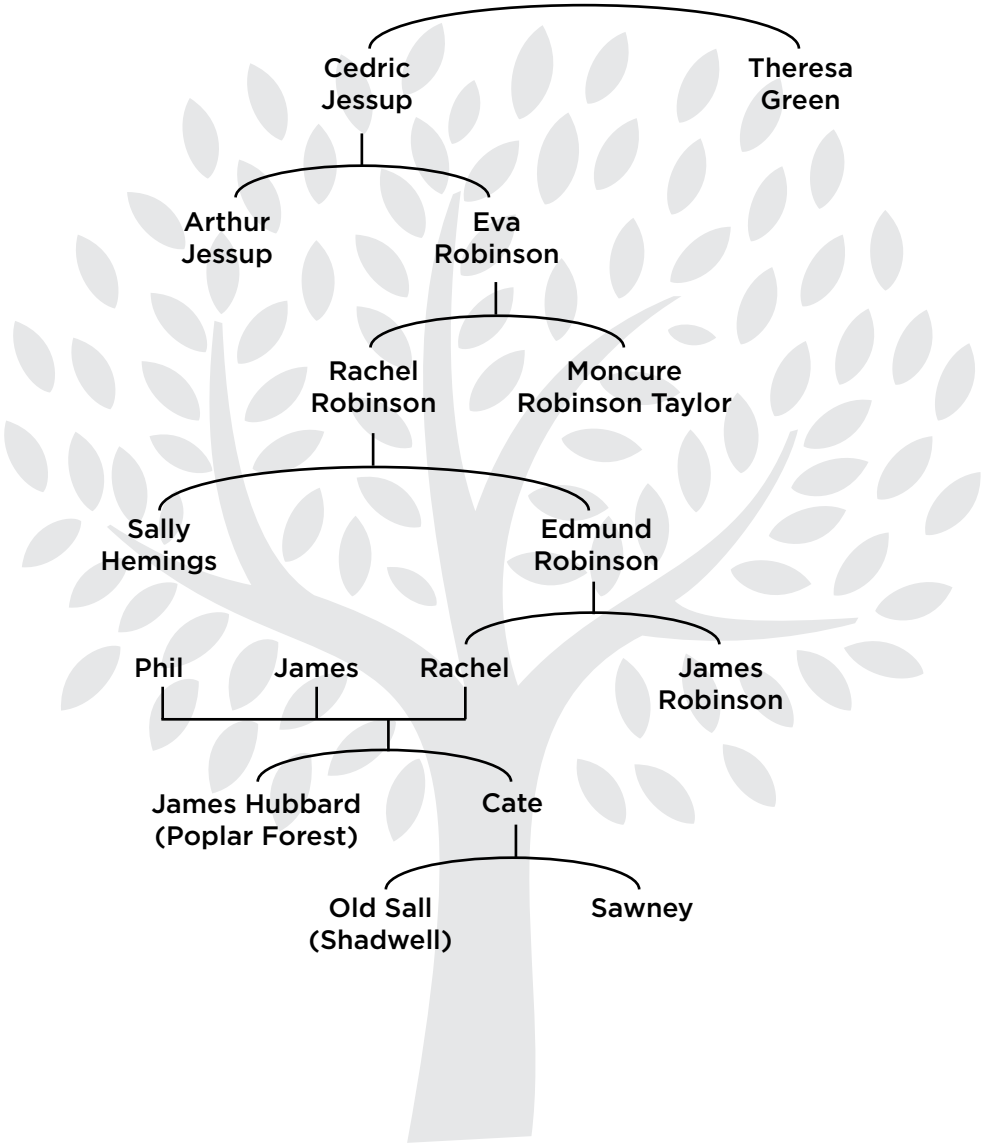

21 22 23 24 25 LSC 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

THE HEMINGS LINE

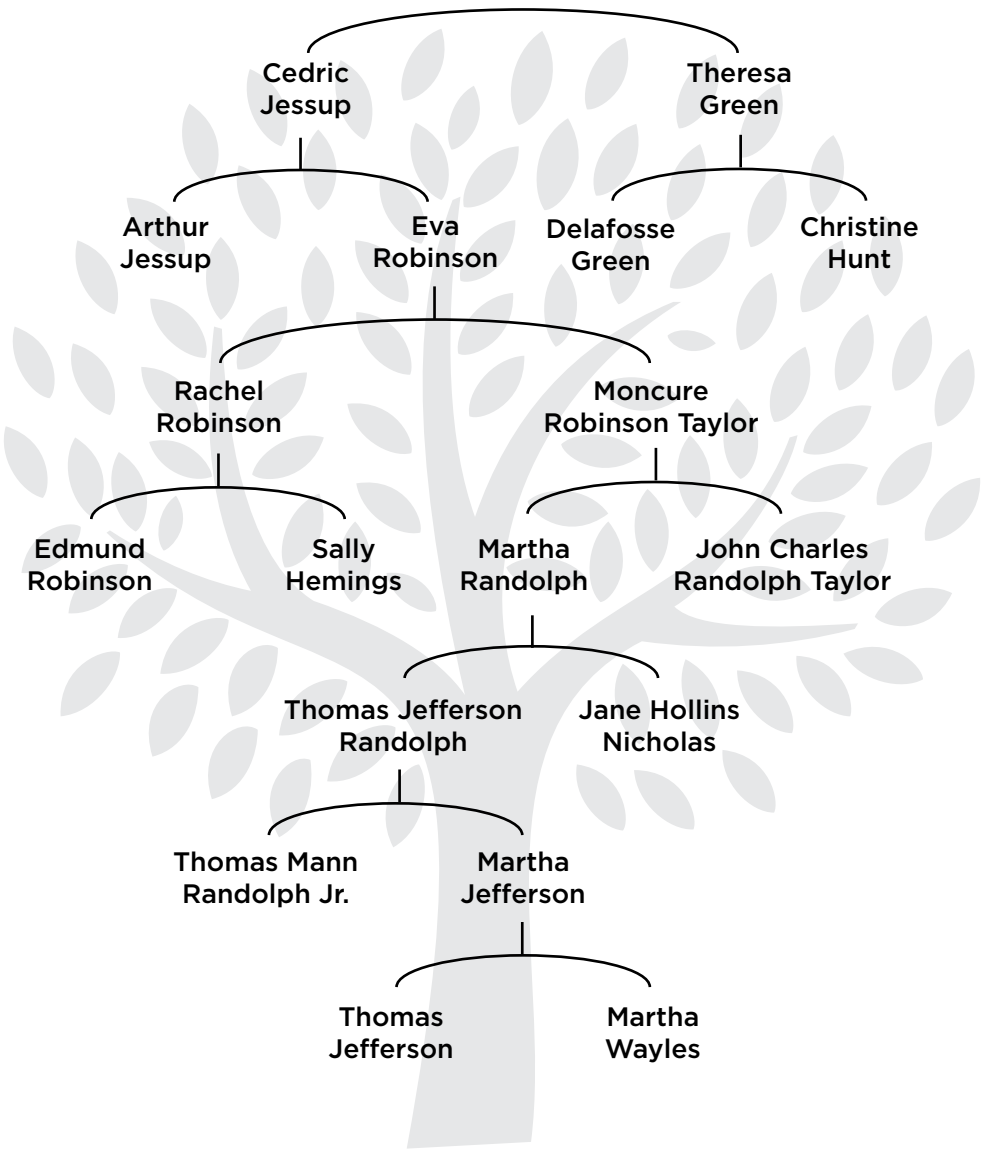

Courtesy of the Thomas Jefferson Foundation

THE HUBBARD LINE

Courtesy of the Thomas Jefferson Foundation

THE JESSUP LINE

Courtesy of the Thomas Jefferson Foundation

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This story would not exist were it not for the inspiration of my ancestors, so I first thank them: the Jessups, the Greens, the Hunts, the Diggsses, the Howards, the Robinsons, the Hemingses, and the Hubbards. Nor would it have life were it not for Virginia Robinson, “Aunt Peachie,” as our family called her, the only member of her generation left to pass down the Jefferson family legacy. And then there is my sister Janice, who absorbed everything she heard, including Aunt Peachie’s many ruminations. For fifty years, Janice has shared this adventure with me, for which I am grateful beyond words. I thank my parents, Cedric and Theresa Jessup. Like all humans, they were flawed, but their love for me was not. In spite of the tension that sometimes gripped our home, I always felt their love and support, which sustains me to this day.

My husband Jack and my son, Charles, have spent incalculable hours with me, listening, reading, suggesting, and encouraging. Jack, a retired TIME magazine correspondent and columnist, has been a partner, a cheerleader, and a critic. I am a better writer because of him. Charles is a mother’s gift—smart, sensitive, and thoughtful. His insights helped me navigate through difficult memories, some involving him.

I am so thankful to my sister Patricia for her boundless energy, creativity, and joy. Her art, inspired by our family history, fills my home. And I am grateful to my brother Bruce, who always makes me laugh and reminds me not to take myself too seriously. I am in awe of Mary Lewis, who cared for my brother Dickie with love and kindness. I will always be grateful for the lessons learned from my late brother-in-law Wallace Terry.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

My gratitude extends to the extraordinary people who helped shape this story, including my friend, mentor, and Monticello Descendant Community patron saint, Lucia “Cinder” Stanton; my agent, the indomitable Jennifer Herrera; and my editor, the Amistad editor, the visionary Patrik Bass. Much appreciation to HarperOne Group president Judith Curr and Amistad vice president Tracy Sherrod, all of whom believed this was a story that needed telling. Endless appreciation belongs to photographer Ryan Kelly and HarperCollins art director Stephen Brayda for their stunning cover art. Among the many from HarperCollins I would also like to thank are Briana Garcia, Maya Lewis, Courtney Nobile, Tara Parsons, and Francesca Walker. The team’s copy editors were extraordinary.

I am grateful to my cousins Carol Restifo and Terry Plater, for preserving the Green family legacy, including official White House artifacts, and to Eugenia Carter and Neil Jessup, for sharing their childhood memories. Affection and appreciation go to my nieces and nephews Lisa and Tai Terry, Noah and Sophia Marcus, and Peter Jolley for listening to endless history lessons on Thanksgiving and Christmas. Thanks also to David and Serda Terry, Dante Woodlin, Renior Woodlin, Dawn Jessup, and Saundria Jessup. Heartfelt appreciation goes to Robinson and Hemings cousins Maurice Brewington, Bill Collins, John Collins, Andrew Davenport, Pamela Duffy, Richard Hackett, Calvin Jefferson, Julius Jefferson, Ruth Johnson, Alice Mitchell, Amy Mitchell, Kevin Nelson, Louise Nelson, Bill Webb, Carol Williams, and Velma Williams, and to Jefferson cousins Prinny Anderson, Linda Carr-Kraft, Rob Eppes, Charles Taylor, Jack Taylor, Tess Taylor, Debbie Truscott, Lucian Truscott IV, David Works, and the dozens of family members I have met over the past five years.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Thank you to my mother-in-law, Sara White, for sharing her home with me, and to her children, Diane, Loraine, and Marilyn, for sharing their mother, and to my stepchildren, Kyle, George, James, and Kristen, for sharing their grandmother.

There are so many friends and colleagues who have supported me through the years to whom I am indebted. Many thanks to my dearest and oldest friends Lisa Bass Cooper and Miriam Rudder for their long memories and hours of conversation. They are my sisters. Thanks to Jason Wood and his mother Arminta, Anna Anderson, Richard Block, Anita and Paul Delaney, Kwame Holman, and Clarence and Lisa Page for remembering the old days. Thank you to my St. Francis de Sales classmates who visited Monticello and to my Notre Dame alum sisters for the monthly Zoom calls.

Much love and appreciation to Ralph and Judy Anderson, Sherman and Jacqueline Curl, Janet Daniels, John and Karen Franklin, Richard and Eucharia Jackson, and Tred and Janine Collins Spratley for creating new memories. Gratitude and affection also belong to Diane Bechamps, Rita McClenney, James and Eva Cunningham, Melani Douglass, Ron and Betty Crutcher, Laurant Lee, First Lady Pamela Northam, Justin Reid, and Tim and Daphne Maxwell Reid.

Many thanks and affection to my Kenwood “family” for long lunch conversations and Zoom gatherings, especially Niya Bates, Aurelia Crawford, Andrew O’Shaughnessy, Whitney Pippin, Laura Sandy, Mary Scott Flemming, and Gaye Wilson. Much appreciation to Gaye and Whitney for reasons they know.

I am deeply grateful to the Reverend Lehman Bates for his friendship and spiritual uplift, to the Reverend Alvin Edwards for his support, Henry Louis Gates Jr. for his friendship, to Annette Gordon-Reed for her research about the Hemings family, to Michael Cottman and Michael Paul Williams for their journalism, to Rita

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Dove for her inspirational poetry, and to CeCe Moore and Shannon Christmas for their genealogical expertise. Special thanks to the Honorable John Charles Thomas.

Among the many colleagues and community members I wish to thank are first and foremost Thomas Jefferson Foundation President Leslie Greene Bowman and Vice President of Strategy & Chief Content Officer Gary Sandling. Thank you to Valentine Museum Executive Director William Martin who gave me my first museum job. Monticello's Board of Trustees, including former chairs Don King and Jon Meacham and chair Melody Barnes, deserve recognition for their support of Monticello's shift toward diversity and inclusion.

I also appreciate the support of Neil Barclay, Charise Beckett, Anna Berkes, Michael Cheuk, Frank Cogliano, Christa Dierksheide, Carolyn Dillard, Brandon Dillard, Will Dillon, Andrea Douglas, Michelle and Joshua DuBois, Robin Farmer, Nicholas Fitzgerald, Wayne Gannaway, Don Gathers, Emily Greenfield, Beverly Grey, Linnea Grim, Gardiner Hallock, Jobie Hill, Iris Holliday, Megan Howerton, Petrina Jackson, Adele Johnson, Emilie Johnson, Stephen Light, Ann Lucas, Jenn Lyon, Lucy Macon, Mia Magruder, Mary Massie, Sharon McElroy, John McKee, Shelly Murphy, Stephen Ninneman, Margaret Martin O'Bryant, Eric Proebsting, Crystal Ptacek, Harry Robinson Jr., John Ragosta, Regina Rush, Leni Sorensen, Maya Smart, Susan Stein, Ann Taylor, Emily Tenhundfeld, Melissa Thompson, Sam Towler, Chad Wollerton, Monique Woodson, Dianne Swann-Wright and Mary Blair Zakaib. I have been buoyed by the many friends and family members who have visited Monticello since my tenure there began. Thank you.

I appreciate the research and institutional support of the Albemarle Charlottesville Historical Society, Central Virginia History Researchers, the Commonwealth of Virginia Chapter of the Links,

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Incorporated, the Jefferson Library at the Robert H. Smith International Center for Jefferson Studies, the Mooreland-Spingarn Research Center at Howard University, the Albert & Shirley Small Special Collections Library at the University of Virginia, Thomas Jefferson's Poplar Forest, and the Virginia Museum of History & Culture. I also appreciate the assistance of St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church, Church of the Incarnation, and St. Margaret of Scotland Catholic Church. Thank you, All.